WALK ACROSS TENNESSEE IS GOING STRONG

Kathy Krone's Article from State Gazette

Collectively, participants in the third annual Dyer County Walk Across Tennessee accumulated enough mileage to walk around the equator nearly 3.5 times.

The circumference of the Earth is 24,901 miles at the equator. Walk Across Tennessee team members reported 85,551 miles during the eight-week contest.

The total - and the top teams and top walkers - were announced during a celebratory gathering Tuesday night at the Dyersburg Mall.

Dyer County Extension Agent Beth Bell, who coordinated the contest with the help of a 27-member steering committee and a number of volunteers, was impressed by the walkers' efforts. She said the county's Walk was, by far, the largest in the state with 1,234 walkers and 162 teams.

"Congratulations to each and every person here," she told the crowd. Anyone who walked or exercised is a winner. Exercise is credited with helping to regulate blood pressure, diabetes, body weight, mood and more. While better health is an outstanding award, the teams and individuals with the highest mileage also received tangible awards.

The top teams overall and in a number of categories received medals. These included the top teams overall:

- Dyersburg Activity Center Steppers, who accumulated 2,391.39 miles. The team included Captain Sandra Cooley and her teammates Jeff Johnson, Joe Hayden, Randy Butler, Morris Mann, James Earl Johnson, Jimmy Barbour, Lewis Norman, Andy Baker, Freddy Flemming and Gary McLain. In addition to individual medals, the team was given the right to display the Walk Across Tennessee trophy for a year. That trophy will pass to a new winner next year.

- Sunrisers Return, who walked 2,381 miles. Rick Pilkenton was team captain.

- Tennessee Walking Gators, who reported 2,148.5 miles. JB Mims acted as the team's captain.

- Professional Healthcare Associates, who walked 2,088.5 miles. Shelley Reed was the team captain.

To find the top overall walkers, each team captain was asked to report which team member had the most mileage. From these reports, the Walk committee announced the individual winners. Bell noted that some additional walkers may have qualified for this award, but the contest was restricted to one nominee per team.
